Tested by TUV Rheinland, Notified Body No. 0197

SPECIFICATION EN13356:2001 Protective Clothing – High visibility belt for non-professional use.

1. The standard specifies the optical performance requirements for high visibility clothing to be worn by adults and juveniles, and designed for non-professional use. High visibility clothing for non-professional use is intended to signal the user's presence visually in any daylight condition, when illuminated by vehicle headlights or search lights in the dark as well as lit urban roads.

2. The high visibility belt must not be modified. It must be kept clean to be effective. Replace the garment if permanently stained or faded, or otherwise damaged. Regular comparison against a new garment is recommended. The aftercare instructions must be followed as improper treatment may alter the belt's performance.

3. This belt is to be worn over outer clothing and should be adjusted to fit so that it fits closely to the outer clothing. The waist strap should be tight, but comfortable. The buckle and pop rivets should be inspected periodically to ensure proper function.

USAGE INSTRUCTIONS

1. Attach ends of shoulder brace to respective pop rivets on belt.
2. Adjust to fit body with/without clothing.
3. Ensure neither belt, nor brace are twisted and the high-visibility side is facing outward.

IMPROPER USE: Always wear the garment fastened. The wearer should visually check for rips and tears, ineffective buckle operation, damaged tapes, and etc...

A dirty or damaged belt does not afford the protection of a new garment. If the garment becomes damaged, or is permanently stained or faded, it should be replaced immediately.

Be aware that the wearing of a backpack could negate the benefits of this product. Oxford does however produce a bright rucksack cover to improve visibility.

Dispose of this garment appropriately at the end of its life, textile materials may be recycled.

AFTERCARE

Do not handwash or machine wash.

Do not immerse in water. Wipe clean only with a clean, damp cloth,
